

METALGRUP

An industry built to last. A partner you can rely on.
In-house manufacturing of brass fittings for distributors who value stability, consistent quality and long-term continuity.

Industrial origins dating back to 1930. In-house production in Europe.

METALGRUP

In-house manufacturing as a guarantee

We control the main manufacturing processes internally, allowing us to ensure stable quality, high product availability and reduced dependency on third parties.

For our customers, this means predictability, fewer incidents and the peace of mind that comes from working with a manufacturer who truly controls its production.

A distributor-focused approach

We understand the realities of the distribution business. That is why our way of working is based on proximity, direct communication and a shared long-term vision.

Metalgrup is not an anonymous supplier, but an industrial partner that supports its customers and builds lasting relationships based on mutual trust.

An industrial company with a long-term vision

Metalgrup is a family-owned industrial company specialized in the manufacturing of brass fittings for the professional distribution channel. Our way of working is based on a simple principle: offering stability, consistent quality and relationships built to last.

We work with distributors who need a reliable partner, capable of responding consistently today and in the future.

Industrial heritage and continuity

Metalgrup's industrial roots go back to 1930. Over several generations, the company has evolved while maintaining a clear focus: investing in industry, know-how and people to build a solid and sustainable project.

Our experience is not a marketing claim, but a guarantee of continuity and long-term commitment.

Fewer day-to-day issues

Consistent and repeatable quality that helps reduce returns, claims and constant adjustments.

Continuity of supply

An in-house industrial structure that minimizes disruptions and external dependencies.

Commercial predictability

Stable products in terms of quality and performance, making stock management and rotation easier.

Capacity for recurring volumes

An industrial setup prepared to support distributor growth without production constraints.

Flexibility without losing control

Adaptations and customization managed industrially, without compromising product or supply stability.

Direct communication and agile decisions

Direct contact with the factory, fewer intermediaries and faster response times.

A supplier built for long-term relationships

An industrial model designed for stable partnerships, not short-term transactions.

CONCRETE BENEFITS FOR DISTRIBUTORS

A RANGE DESIGNED TO GENERATE BUSINESS FOR DISTRIBUTORS

Metalgrup offers a product range focused on the professional distribution channel, designed to create stable business opportunities and support product rotation.

Our proposal combines in-house manufacturing in key families with complementary ranges that allow distributors to expand their offer in a coherent and profitable way.

Each product family represents a business opportunity for the distributor. Metalgrup structures its catalogue with a clear commercial vision, supported by a solid industrial base and a long-term partnership approach.

PRODUCT FAMILIES

Brass fittings

Our core product family. In-house manufacturing focused on volume, quality stability and continuity of supply.

Multilayer systems

In-house manufactured multilayer systems designed to meet current market needs and expand distributor offerings.

Valves

Selected ranges with strong commercial potential, aimed at reinforcing the assortment and generating additional sales opportunities.

Compression fittings and polyethylene fittings

High-rotation products that complete the distributor's standard assortment.

Click-clack, siphons and accessories

Convenience products designed to support cross-selling and point-of-sale needs.

Built to ensure availability and fast response

Metalgrup's industrial capacity is designed to anticipate market demand. Our production planning is carried out on a long-term basis and is oriented towards stock-based manufacturing, allowing us to offer high product availability and fast response times. Except for special references, we do not manufacture to order, but work with stock ready to be delivered.

What Metalgrup guarantees

High product availability

Long-term production planning and significant stock levels to ensure agile and reliable service.

Fast delivery

Stock-based manufacturing allows us to reduce lead times and respond quickly to distributor needs.

Predictability in volumes and planning

Annual production planning that supports efficient stock management and commercial planning.

Stable and repeatable quality

Continuous production ensures homogeneous product performance over time.

Reduced dependency on urgent orders

A model that minimizes bottlenecks, urgency and unnecessary supply chain tension

Catalogue continuity

Stable product references designed to remain in range, supporting long-term rotation.

More than 25 million pieces in stock

Annual production planning focused on availability and fast service.

Commercial presence in over 35 countries

Solid experience across European and international markets.

Continuous industrial production

An industrial structure designed to supply stable volumes to distribution.

Industrial origins dating back to 1930

A family project with a clear long-term vision.

Service focused on reliability and speed

A stock-based working model that reduces delivery times.

An industrial structure prepared to serve professional distribution

What distributors can expect from Metalgrup

Direct and close communication

Direct contact with a team that understands the product, the business and the distribution channel.

Agile response

An organization designed to provide clear and fast answers in day-to-day operations.

Commitment to supply

Stock-based planning to ensure reliable and predictable service.

Shared commercial vision

An understanding of distributor needs, focused on rotation, stability and joint growth.

Long-term continuity

Relationships built to last, with stable references and a coherent product policy.

How we work with our customers

At Metalgrup, we consider service an essential part of the product. Our objective is not to close isolated transactions, but to build stable and lasting relationships with our customers.

We work with a collaborative mindset based on trust, direct communication and long-term continuity.

An industrial partner for long-term relationships

Metalgrup is an industrial company designed to work with distributors who value stability, reliability and a professional long-term relationship.

Our structure, our manufacturing approach and our way of understanding service are all focused on providing continuity and peace of mind in day-to-day business.

We remain at your disposal to provide further information or answer any questions

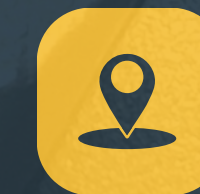

+34 936 853 856

export@metalgrup.es

www.metalgrup.eu

Avda. Laurea Miro 370-374
Sant Feliu de Llobregat 08980